

GETTING THE MOST OUT OF OUR SESSION APRIL 13TH, 2024

Lisa Greig & Ash Breland; MSWs RSWs

As we prepare for our upcoming session on member engagement at the conference, we wanted to highlight a few thoughts to help you make the most of our time together. Your input and engagement are vital to the success of the DHAS, and we appreciate your commitment to shaping its future.

Before the session, we encourage you to reflect on three key questions: what? how? why?

As an attendee, we want you to know what to expect for this session. First and foremost, we ask that you bring an open mind and a growth mindset. We hope to engage in brainstorming solutions with the same enthusiasm as we explore potential blockers and pain points.

We will invite participants to answer questions independently at their tables, as well as to share their thoughts on the post-it walls in the session room. The session will involve reflection, connection, and some movement. We look forward to spending this time building upon the work you have already done!

1 WHAT are you looking for?

Take a moment to consider what you hope to gain from our discussion on member engagement. Let's make space to share big picture hopes of what you want to gain as a member of the new association (DHAS).

Think about what you want, what you need, what you currently receive, and what you wish you could experience

2 HOW can your needs be met?

As a Dental Hygienist, how can the DHAS enhance your practice? Whether it's through improved communication channels, additional resources, or different types of support, your insights are invaluable in helping us shape our offerings.

3 WHY are these suggestions important to you?

Consider the significance of your recommendations. What impact do you believe they could have on your experience as a Dental Hygienist? Understanding the reasons behind your suggestions will deepen our understanding of your perspective and priorities.

It is important to us to spend time behind the why during our session. It is equally as important we spend time behind the why not.

4 What's next?

We are collecting everything you share so your DHAS can curate opportunities that serve the member's interests. We are confident in our ability to engage members, but we also want a space where you can share any thoughts that come up for you. Scan the QR Code below to access the live document.
